Liquor Board seeks student suggestions during Monday forum

By TONY CAMPBELL
Senior reporter

The Charleston Liquor Advisory Board will give everyone a chance to give comments and suggestions concerning the board's recommended alcohol ordinance changes at Monday's open forum.

The forum, sponsored by the University Board, will be held at 7 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Student Senate Speaker Brett Gerber said the forum will give the people of the community a chance to give their opinions. At the (on-campus Liquor Advisory Board) meeting, the students had to stay pretty quiet and didn't have a chance to give their opinion," he said. "This (forum) is dedicated to letting the community let us (the board) what they think."

Liquor Advisory Board member Sharon Brinkmeyer said the open forum will give students and members of the community a chance to voice their opinions on the board's recommendations for 11 alcohol ordinance changes. "The point (of the meeting) is to elicit as much of a response as we can," she said.

Brinkmeyer cast her vote to allow the open forums, breaking a 3-3 deadlock, at the March 21, on-campus board meeting. The meeting drew 200 students to the Grand Ballroom to listen to the board's proposals.

The decision was made at the meeting to hold two open forums - one on campus and one in the Charleston community.

The second forum is tentatively scheduled on April 30 at Charleston High School. "We are just trying to include everyone in the decisions," she said.

The board will allow the people to present comments and recommendations, as long as the input is made within the guidelines.

Lithuania defies Kremlin deadline

MOSCOW (AP) - Lithuanian leaders on Sunday ignored a Kremlin deadline to rescind laws promoting independence despite Moscow's threat to cut off key supplies to the Baltic republic.

The republic's deputy prime minister, Romualdas Ozolas, went on Lithuanian television as the 48-hour deadline set by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev expired. He said Lithuania's president and prime minister would meet Monday to discuss Moscow's ultimatum.

Ozolas also said the neighboring republic of Estonia would appoint an ambassador to Lithuania on Monday, and Lithuania would reciprocate, according to Aidas Palubinskas of the Lithuanian parliament's information office.

Gorbachev sent a letter Friday to Lithuania's leaders, demanding that they rescind independence-oriented actions that he termed "anti-constitutional," including laws on canceling conscription into the Soviet army and seizing Communist Party property.

He threatened to cut off products the Soviet Union sells abroad for hard currency if the republic's leaders failed to act by Sunday.

Gorbachev did not specify the materials, but they include oil and natural gas - products Lithuania buys only from Moscow.

In Washington Sunday, Senate leaders of both parties warned Gorbachev that carrying out his threatened economic blockade could derail opening trade relations between the two countries.

Lithuania, a republic of 3.8 million, declared its independence from the Soviet Union March 11 and has been engaged in a war of wills with the Kremlin ever since. Palubinskas quoted Ozolas as acknowledging that Lithuania's factories would be able to function for only about two weeks if Moscow imposed an economic blockade.

Bars begin second week of suspensions

By BOB McKEE
City editor

Six other Charleston bars will be suspended for one-week beginning Monday stemming from a March 9 investigation in which Charleston Police learned the establishments had served alcohol to a minor.

Twelve of 14 bars investigated were charged with serving alcohol to minors. Nine bar owners representing 11 of the bars have either served or will serve one-week suspensions after they pleaded not guilty or "no contest" to the charges before Charleston Mayor and Liquor Commissioner Wayne Lanman on March 22 and 23.

Bars serving one-week suspensions this week are: H.H. Hootr's, 1415 Fourth St.; Jerry's Pizza and Pub, 1508 Fourth St.; Mother's, 506 Monroe Ave.; Panther Lounge, 1421 Fourth St.; and Ted's Warehouse, 102 N. Sixth St.

Page One Tavern, 410 Sixth St., will be serving its second suspension this week after its owner, Rena Ward, pleaded guilty to two counts of serving alcohol to a minor, both in the upstairs part of the establishment and in the main part on the first floor. Page One was also suspended from April 2-9.

Ward was originally charged on four counts, including a possible violation of state happy hour laws, which was dropped, and a resale violation stemming from a party held in the bar's upstairs, which Ward admitted.

The suspensions will continue until 6 a.m., Monday April 23.

The only owner who pleaded innocent to the charges was Ken Keating, president of E.L. Kracker's, 1405 Fourth St. He will appear before Lanman at a liquor hearing scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday.

It's not death, so it must be time to file tax returns

WASHINGTON (AP) - You won't be through with taxes for the year even if you beat the midnight Monday deadline for filing your federal return. The average American will have to work through May 5 to satisfy the tax collectors.

If that prediction by the Tax Foundation proves accurate, it will be the latest "Tax Freedom Day" on record and two days later than 1989.

The reason is simple, the non-partisan research organization said Sunday in announcing the mythical date: "Tax increases will outpace the growth in individuals' income during 1990." Tax Freedom Day is the foundation's estimate of how long it would take an average person to pay his or her state, federal and local taxes if all income went for taxes until they were all paid for the year 1990.

The calculations assume that all taxes are paid by individuals, including those collected from corporations.

Until this year, the latest date was May 4, 1981, before a big tax reduction took effect. The foundation said subsequent watering down of several deductions, increases in Social Security taxes and state and local taxes, and a gradual economic slowing will have wiped out that reduction.

Some students play leading roles

Ask not what your campus can do for you, but what you can do for your campus.

Actually that's service to your country which President John Kennedy spoke of during his inaugural address, but on a campus level, that quote may be what the founders of Eastern's student government had in mind when the campus group was formed during Livingston Lord's term as Eastern's first president.

And at the least, many of Eastern's past student government representatives seemed to adopt that attitude and provided many colorful episodes for The Daily Eastern News to cover in its 75 years of publication.

After Wednesday's spring elections, a new executive body and slate of Student Senate members will take over the posts which students have filled rather vocally and actively in the past.

A turbulent episode during the '60s saw senate members organize a "walk" on former Eastern President Quincy Doudna's home, as well as demand his resignation or sabbatical leave in response to perceived wrongs on the president's part.

The senate of early April 1970 voted 17-8 to ask Doudna to leave on sabbatical during which time steps toward replacing him would be taken.

Senate member Bob Sampson explained to the News three "dangers to academic freedom" under Doudna's administration including "censorship of the campus news media, stagnation of the university's communication channels and unfair treatment meted out to professional men."

Doudna and the senate managed to ride out that storm, which in context with other events wasn't as major a crisis as it might be today.

In fact, the student body president during the Doudna turbulence, Larry Stuffle, was impeached because of stuffing the ballot box, said Dan Thornburgh, Eastern's director of University Relations.

But to that group's credit, the members were very active in state government procedures, Thornburgh added.

"During Stuffle's period of mid-

Legendary actress Greta Garbo dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Garbo, the legendary screen star who turned her back on Hollywood in 1941 and became as well known for her passion for privacy as for her sculpted beauty and husky vibrato, died Sunday. She was 84.

"New York Hospital announces with great sadness the death of Miss Garbo," said hospital spokesman Andrew Banoff.

At the family's request, he provided no other information other than that she died Sunday. He declined to say when she entered the hospital or at what time she died.

Ben Bottenweiser, a neighbor and friend of Garbo, said the actress hadn't been well lately and had had dialysis treatments, but didn't know the nature of her illness. Banoff declined to say whether Garbo had been treated for kidney trouble.

The Swedish-born star began her career in silent films and reigned as the supreme movie queen throughout the '30s. Some critics considered her the finest screen actress of all time.

Actor Jimmy Stewart recalled Sunday night that Miss Garbo had a certain mystique about her.

"It was a combination of the way she looked, her voice and the beautiful way she moved," Stewart said. "As an actress and as a person she had this very special thing about her that I think sort of set her apart, and it was something very special." He said he never really got to know Garbo, but was always a fan.

After her retirement at age 36, Garbo never acted again, but her luminous performances in 24 films kept her name alive and made her a favorite of younger generations who saw in her an ethereal ideal of the ultimate woman.

While "Camille," and "Ninotchka" became film festival staples, the woman known worldwide simply as "Garbo" remained shuttered in her Manhattan apartment or at various retreats in France and Switzerland.

She suffered little illness through most of her life, and was a health enthusiast who enjoyed long walks.

When she traveled it was with the air of a phantom, slipping in and out of airports, wearing dark glasses and a slouch hat pulled down. She was usually only a few steps ahead of persistent photographers who stalked her incessantly and occasionally managed to steal a quick shot of "The Face." Her most-remembered line was in "Grand Hotel" when she said, "I want to be alone." She was also reputed to have said the same to reporters, although she once insisted to a friend that what she had said was, "I want to be let alone."

In comments published in Life magazine in 1989, Garbo described herself as a "sour little creature." "I don't want any kind of attention from anybody, except that I know that someone likes me, and that's nice. Otherwise, it's sickening," she said.

Rumors of love affairs were plentiful but Garbo never married.

Warbler distribution begins on Tuesday

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Editor in chief

Warbler '90, Eastern's year-book, is scheduled to swoop into Charleston early Monday morning, arriving in time for four days of campus distribution.

Editions of the 368-page book will be available from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday in Buzzard Building. An additional distribution time of 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursday evening has been scheduled.

"We're really excited about the book coming in," Warbler Art Director Robb Montgomery said. "We haven't seen it yet, but we put a lot of effort into its production and design. We pushed the limits of our computer-production system."

Copies are free for full-time students enrolled at Eastern the past two semesters. All other students will have to pay a small fee for their Warblers, with Montgomery estimating a highest fee of $7.

"It depends on how much of student fees you have paid," Montgomery said. "For what you're getting, it's a bargain."

Even before official publication, Warbler '90 is an award-winner after being recognized in three design categories of Associated Collegiate Press Computer-Assisted Trendsetter Award Competition.

"We photocopied pages we finished and entered the book as work in progress," Montgomery said, adding the entire book will be judged at the national level next year.

Thirty-two pages of the book will feature color photographs which record events such as last spring's Bangles concert and Greek Week.

The book's theme is "On Level Higher."

"We tried to give even-handed coverage to as many groups as we possibly could," Montgomery said. "The theme reflects the changes going on at Eastern and how things are getting better."

Warbler '90 was published by Delmar Publishing Co., Charlotte N.C.

"We're getting the book a little earlier than we expected," Montgomery said, adding it originally expected an arrival closer to May 1.

lines which will be established at the beginning of the meeting. "Everybody — students and people of the community — will have a chance (to speak) as long as they stay within the guidelines.

She said some of the guidelines include a two-minute speaking limit, and each speaker must give their name and address before presenting their opinion. The Board will not offer a rebuttal to any input from the crowd members, except to clarify points. "This is not a debate," she said.

But Gerber said he would mention at the beginning of the meeting that the Board should be open to student questions. "There's a fine line between debating and answering questions," he said, stating that he would have no problem fielding questions from the audience.

"I'm going to mention it and see how the rest of the commission feels about it," he said. "But if they just want to leave it open to comments, criticisms and praises, then that's fine."

"It makes me irate," said Student Body President Patty Kennedy, stating that students should be able to direct questions toward the board. "What is the purpose of an open forum," she asked.

Gerber said he is worried about the turnout for the forum, stating that many students are just returning to campus and may have forgot.

Kennedy said she is hopeful students will go to the meeting and give their opinions. "We've been spreading the word," she said. "We want there to be lots of students (at the forum)."

An issue brought before the Liquor Advisory Board at the March 21 on-campus meeting was the fact that only one of the seven board seats were occupied by a student member. Student Speaker Brett Gerber told the board that there should be at least three students represented on the board.

Brinkmeyer said she doesn't believe the issue of increasing the number of student representatives will be a major area of discussion at the meeting. "I don't think we'll touch on that (student representative) issue any more than any other; I think every issue will be brought to light," she said.

"Our intention was from the very beginning was to get input from the whole community and work out of feasible proposal, then open it up and get a response," she added.

Other board proposals which will be a topic of discussion include raising the bar-entry age to 21 and the jump in fines for people violating the liquor ordinances. Also, the ramifications of the changes will be discussed.

Senate

60s to early 70s, they were more concerned about Springfield and things over there than they are today," Thornburgh said.

That trend continued through 1979, when April 25 — the day of the senate elections — was dubbed "National Lemon Day" when student-signed lemons were sent to Gov. James Thompson to protest tuition increases.

More than 10 years later, National Lemon Day is just a memory, but the senate members are once again beginning to actively attack legislative and municipal moves.

Student Body President Patty Kennedy cited a senate lobby group, which while only in its infancy, will lead students to Springfield to voice concerns directly to the General Assembly.

"Going to Springfield and lobbying is much more exciting than sitting on your own campus,"

Kennedy said.

Compared to letter-writing campaigns and other efforts on the senate's part, Kennedy said the lobby group is on stronger ground. "Sometimes we'd make a big effort and then fall off again," she said. "It's not senate's fault necessarily, but we didn't keep our eyes on things like we should."

Closer to home, Kennedy said senate actions to rally students against recommendations made by Charleston's Liquor Advisory Board are powerful examples of current members' dedication.

It's that kind of action which helps both the campus and the senate members, many of whom plan to enter political fields upon graduation, Thornburgh said.

"Just as it's important for student journalists to have a student newspaper that's viable, it's necessary for student government to be able to make decisions and then have to live with them," Thornburgh said.

Ives' ticket sales start Monday

By LORI HIGGINS
Campus editor

Tickets will go on sale Monday for a Burl Ives concert appearance at Eastern which will benefit the art department and the Burl Ives Art Studio Hall.

Ives, a former Eastern student, is a nationally known singer and actor. He attended Eastern from 1927-1930.

Sales for the tickets will begin at 1 p.m. Monday at the ticket window in the Doudna Fine Arts Center, Daniel Thornburgh, director of University Relations, said.

The ticket window will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the weekends.

Ives will present a concert at

Burl Ives

7:30 p.m. on April 27 in the Dvorak Concert Hall of the Doudna Fine Arts Center, Thornburgh said. Tickets for the concert will be $8 for general reserved seats and $25 for special seating.

The $25 tickets will also allow individuals to attend a special reception party for Ives after the concert.

"We're very pleased with the interest in the $25 special tickets," Thornburgh said.

Thornburgh said he is also pleased with just the general interest in the concert. "We've had a good interest - we anticipate a very good crowd."

Thornburgh added "a lot of people from the area knew Ives" and remember him and plan to be at the concert. There will be people from other towns as well at the concert.

The concert, held during Celebration Weekend, will feature

Ives singing a variety of songs ranging from folk songs to songs pertaining to America and the Charleston area.

"He will be presenting a very special performance," Thornburgh said.

Also as part of Celebration Weekend and in conjunction with Ives' visit to Eastern, the Burl Ives Art Studio Hall will be formally dedicated to the multi-faceted entertainer who won an Academy Award for his acting performance in "The Big Country."

Thornburgh said the studio's dedication will begin at 3 p.m. on April 28.

In preparation for Ives' visit, landscaping work is being completed outside the Burl Ives Art Studio.

Carman Hall hosts Easter fundraiser

By LORI HIGGINS
Campus editor

Carman Hall resident assistants will be donning Easter bunny suits Monday afternoon as a fundraiser for an underprivileged Phillipine child.

From 4 to 10:30 p.m. Monday, several resident assistants will dress up as bunnies and walk around from door to door through the residence hall asking for monetary donations, said Terry Tumbarello, a Carman resident assistant.

The Eastern program, titled "Eastern Bunny Sponsor-A-Child" is held for five-year-old Maria Mae Besa Canoy, to help provide her with decent clothing and health care and a chance to enroll in school.

"This is the third year we've done this (sponsoring Maria and having the Easter bunny fundraiser)," Tumbarello said, noting that he and Jill Binder, another resident assistant, hope to raise $300 for Maria.

He added that the first year the program was held, a total of $250 was collected and last year, about $300 was collected. The money collected this year will sponsor Maria for an entire year.

Maria, who lives with her parents, is plagued by a chronic medical condition, although Tumbarello said he has received word that her condition had improved. Her mother is unemployed and her father works sporadically. A few months ago, one of her three brothers died, Tumbarello said, adding that if her brother had been sponsored, his death might have been prevented.

"I'd like Carman to continue sponsoring her," Tumbarello said, adding a longtime wish of his is to "get her to come to Eastern" in the future.

Tumbarello said Maria keeps in touch with them, adding "she writes us occasionally."

He added it typically costs $21 to sponsor a child in a Third World nation.

Peacefest promotes environment, too

By PENNY N. WEAVER
Staff writer

The BoDeans concert won't be the only attraction on campus this weekend as Peacefest is scheduled to kick off Saturday and make an early salute to Earth Day.

Peacefest, an annual celebration sponsored by four campus organizations, will feature several bands and guest speakers to promote world peace and alert Eastern students to world crises.

And the Peacefest celebration also coincides with the 20th anniversary of the first Earth Day on Sunday, which promotes awareness in other world concerns, most notably the environment.

The two events will kick off Saturday at the Campus Pond with a 10-kilometer walk scheduled at 10 a.m. in observance of Earth Day. Meanwhile, Peacefest is scheduled to begin Saturday morning and continue through dusk.

"We expect to get a pretty good turnout (for Earth Day and the walk)," said Tara Affolter, co-president of Eastern Illinois Students and Community Concerned About Peace (EISCCAP), the organizer of both events.

She added EISCCAP will actually begin preparation for Earth Day with a bake sale Wednesday in Coleman Hall. Proceeds from the bake sale will go toward Earth Day, she said.

It will also be the first opportunity for students to sign up for the 10-kilometer walk, which will begin and end at the Campus Pond. Affolter said students can also register for the walk Thursday in the University Union and at 9 a.m. Sunday, before the walk begins.

The registration cost is $2, she added, and proceeds will go to Coles County Habitat for Humanity and the Charleston Food Pantry.

"They (Habitat for Humanity) build houses for the homeless," Affolter noted, adding the Food Pantry provides food for the hungry in the Charleston area.

She noted some proceeds from the walk will be used to buy trees, which EISCCAP will donate to local grade schools. "We're having some trees given to us" by the state to commemorate Earth Day, she said, adding a few would be presented to Eastern.

Participants in the Earth Day walk will also be eligible to win several prizes including T-shirts and food donated by local merchants.

Peacefest will feature several speakers and bands, including Weird Harold, Motherlode and Sixteen Tons.

"We'll (also) be having speakers on a wide variety of subjects," said EISCCAP member Carlotta Baharlou. "Hopefully it should be a real fun get-together."

Campus groups participating in Peacefest include EISCCAP, Students in Solidarity with the People of Central America (SISPCA), Pax Christi, the Sexual Assault and Counseling Center and Amnesty International.

"It's kind of a celebration of peace and fun and having a good time and yet being conscious of" current world peace issues, Baharlou said. "It's a relaxed atmosphere to learn."

"(To) educate in a non-threatening manner (is EISCCAP's goal)," she said. "We find Peacefest a good vehicle for that."

Buttons and T-shirts will be for sale, Baharlou said, and free information will be handed out by each group.

BoDeans concert finds opener with Milwaukee-based band

By CHARLA BRAUTIGAM
Associate news editor

An opening act has been found for Saturday's spring concert featuring the BoDeans.

Firetown, a Milwaukee-based band, has been contracted to perform at the 8 p.m. concert, said Trevor Brown, University Board concert coordinator.

While the band is not as well-known as the BoDeans, they have had some hits on college radio stations, added David Milberg, director of student activities.

Brown said he has heard the title track off of Firetown's latest album "The Good Life" on a Champaign radio station.

However, Brown and Milberg do not believe the Firetown name will draw more people to the concert. "They're not as well-known (as the BoDeans)," Brown added.

Yet, three reasons set Firetown ahead of the other bands in the University Board's selection process, Brown said. "They were available. They were in our price range. And they were acceptable to the BoDeans."

For $1,500, the UB was able to sign Firetown, Brown said. The cost to sign the BoDeans was $7,500.

Brown added the UB usually does not have to find an opening act for spring concerts, but since the BoDeans are not on an extended tour, they did not come as a packaged deal.

About six or seven local bands asked to open for the BoDeans, Brown said, "But in order to be fair, we selected a band from the outside area."

But as the concert date draws closer, Milberg and Brown admit they are disappointed with ticket sales.

"We don't even have 10 percent of the campus going yet," Brown said of the approximate 1,400 tickets sold thus far. "I'm hoping a lot of students haven't bought their tickets yet."

Of the 5,100 seats available in Lantz Gym, Brown said he hopes to fill at least 2,000 of them. "I hope to get at least that amount," he added.

Tickets will continue to be sold at the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union ticket office between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. every day until the day of the concert.

General public tickets cost $10 while Eastern students with an ID may purchase tickets for $8.

"I always hope students will support it (the spring concert) as much as possible," Milberg said, adding he hopes sales will increase through the week and the night of the concert.

Easter concert draws 30

By ROCHELLE ELLIOTT
Staff writer

Easter Sunday was both business and pleasure for a group of Eastern faculty and staff who performed a brass instrument concert in Dvorak Concert Hall.

The spotlight reflected off the shiny gold colored instruments and broke the darkness as 10 of Eastern's finest brass musicians from both the faculty and the staff gathered on the evening of Easter Sunday to perform in Dvorak Concert Hall.

The two separate quintets, consisting of five faculty members and five student musicians, alternated taking turns on the stage for seven songs. Nearly 30 people attended the concert featuring the talents of student trumpet players Mike Stewart and Brian Vigna; French horn player Dan Harrison; trombone player Bill Petersen and tuba players Paul Weiler and Jim Gibbons.

Faculty members included trumpet players Tom Brawner, assistant professor of music; Amy Gilreath, music teacher; French horn player Burton Hardin, professor of music; trombone player Allan Horney, associate professor of music; and tuba player Paul Weiler, graduate music.

Publications should separate from AB control

At last Wednesday's Student Senate meeting, Financial Vice President Tom Jewison came before the group to present Student Publications' request to be removed from Apportionment Board and senate jurisdiction.

The reason Jewison gave for the split, a split the financial vice president and chair of the AB proposed, is because the Publications' budget is complex and sometimes too involved for members of the AB to understand in a brief deliberation process.

The Publications' budget is unique because it is comprised of only about 20 percent of student fee money. Student Publications receives a $77,000 student fee portion out of its close to $500,000 yearly budget; the rest of the money is self-generated through advertising and sales.

The Student Publications board oversees The Daily Eastern News, The Warbler and The Vehicle.

If the request is approved, a reconstruction of the Student Publications' board would likely occur. And that would increase the board's voting members by two. There are currently 11 voting members on the board, and the new members would include the financial vice president and a professional member.

As the situation stands now, Student Publications' budget must first clear its board and then the AB, which is under the control of Student Government.

With a restructuring, Publications could then send its budget request directly to Eastern President Stan Rives. That would eliminate potential problems of a bias against all of Student Publications for an unfavorable article in The Daily Eastern News about some aspect of Student Government.

While the likelihood of such a backlash occurring is small, the removal of Student Publications from AB jurisdiction would further protect the newspaper's freedom.

In the professional world, The Washington Post's budget would not be controlled by Congress, so why should it be any different here, where we're trying to simulate the "real" world as much as possible?

Katyn admission is Soviet's first step

In another time it likely would have been the big story of the week.

But with the whirlwind of events in Europe during the past few months, the Soviet Union's admission of committing the Katyn Forest massacre goes largely unnoticed.

No one, it seems, wants to take the time to understand why this admission is any different than the new East German government's apology for the holocaust.

The difference is that the Soviet admission is the first step in overcoming a 50-year-old conspiracy of silence concerning Katyn, while the Germans are farther along in the process because they're apologizing for nearly everything in their sordid past.

Neither government is willing yet to atone in any true sense for the atrocities.

Polish President Wojcieh Jaruzelski went to the Katyn Forest Saturday, offering words of praise for the admission, but carefully noting that this sort of thing should have come years earlier.

Paying tribute to the thousands of Polish army officers killed and buried at Katyn by Stalin's secret police, Jaruzelski said the Soviet admission was of major symbolic significance to his people.

The Soviets had long claimed that Nazi Germany was responsible for the massacre in which soldiers captured at the start of World War II were murdered and then stacked on top of each other in mass graves.

With a cracking voice full of emotion, Jaruzelski's words were emblematic of the Polish people's long plight with Katyn and the strain the Soviet's lies have put between the two countries. "The truth was said about Katyn, and the truth is healing the wounds."

And conciliatory gestures could also be found in East Germany, where words of sweeping apology to the Jews for Hitler's holocaust were heard for the first time, clearing the way for relations with Israel.

The new East German prime minister Lothar de Maiziere is apologizing for decades of denial by the country's former Stalinist leaders. "Persecuted Jews should be granted asylum in the future in East Germany," he said Thursday.

But old wounds are hard to heal, even when it is the truth as healing agent.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir is not fully convinced that East Germany is committed to reparations. Shamir wants more than words, he says, for the death of 6 million people.

In its barrage of reconciliation, East Germany also recognizes the legitimacy of Poland's post-war borders, borders that include many former German lands. And the newly-elected parliament is also apologizing for the deaths of 20 million Soviets during World War II.

East Germany, seeking reunification, wants to placate the countries that will take part in putting the country back together. So, at this point, the East Germans might be willing to admit to just about anything.

The Soviets also have connections to East Germany, though their reasons for admitting to the Katyn massacre may have more to do with improving relations with Poland than the reunification talks.

Still, both the Soviet Union and East Germany can find it easy to admit to these things now, long after the moral wrongs have taken place. And both can find scapegoats (Hitler and Stalin) for the atrocities.

But one must question the motivation of two governments who want to blame others for the past. Is that really the ending of a conspiracy of silence, or merely an excuse for it?

Your turn

People need to be informed of parking laws

Dear Editor:

SCENARIO: You've had a consuming morning at the university. You're anticipating a quick bite of lunch before your next obligation. You reach the parking lot. Your car is gone. No, you're not losing your senses; you did park there. So you conclude it's either been stolen or towed away. But anyone's guess is good because...YOU'VE HAD NO WARNING!

A call to the Charleston Police Department revealed that my car had been towed away by Bartley's Garage, without warning, from the place where I've parked for nearly two years. Yes, there are signs up, and I admit my guilt. But I would have liked to know in advance that someone had decided to follow through on the written threat that day. And that's not all. It was going to take $55 to get my car out of imprisonment.

I thought the bail was too steep, so I did a little private investigating. I called the Amoco station on Lincoln, and they quoted me $20 for a tow of the same distance. Mike's Marathon quoted me $25. And, oddly enough, Bartley's quoted me $25 over the phone as well. When I went back to Bartley's offering $25 to get my car back, the woman told me it was $55 because tow-aways are different. "Why should they be different?" I asked. When I threatened her with small claims court, she laughed in my face and said, "Go ahead."

I then drove to the Charleston Police Department in a borrowed car. A nice policeman told me that Bartley's may justify the additional cost because a jack was most likely needed to position my car for the tow-away. Well, that has to be the most expensive use of a jack I've ever encountered. Why, for $55, Bartley's could have at least made it look good and towed my car to Champaign!

But the story does have a happy ending. I bailed my car out and was given permission to enter the impoundment lot, where I tread carefully around many piles of watchdog droppings to retrieve my car. Finally, I reached my Grand Am. And do you know what I found? A note on my windshield from the Oldetowne and Heritage Apartments manager. It read: "This is a private parking lot. Please do not park here again for classes. If you do, your car will be towed."

Thanks for the warning, Nancy Keating.

Violin instructor Cindy Moyer plays at the Faculty Recital Sunday in the Dvorak Concert Hall of the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

Duo presents classical pieces for Easter recital

By JULIE KNOPE
Staff writer

While some families celebrated Easter Sunday by hunting colored Easter eggs, others celebrated by attending a faculty recital at Eastern's Dvorak Concert Hall.

Approximately 40 people turned out at 3 p.m. to hear such classical pieces as "Resurrection," by Heinrich F. Beiber, which features a German medieval Easter carol in the final movement, and "Spring," a violin and piano sonata by Ludwig van Beethoven.

The recital, which featured Cindy Moyer, professor of violin and viola, and Ron Roberts, professor of piano, brought the two together to "concentrate on making music," Roberts said. "They just get caught up in the music (while) thinking ahead," he added.

After a short intermission, the duo performed a sonata for violin and piano by Rob D. Hoover, a returning Eastern graduate who is working on his second bachelor's degree.

"It's unusual for faculty to perform a student's piece," Hoover said. He added he hopes more of his pieces will be performed after Sunday's performance.

The recital ended with "Sonata in A major for violin and piano," by Cesar Franck, which was written as a wedding present to a Belgian violinist.

Sunday's concert was the first time Moyer and Roberts performed together. It was also Moyer's first performance at Eastern.

It was an "amazingly good audience," Moyer said, adding they were very happy with the whole performance.

ROTC Week kicks off with luncheon

By DENISE EASLEY

Eastern's ROTC department will kick off ROTC Week with a leadership luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Monday that will serve as a historical overview of Eastern's Army ROTC program and a salute to its present 130 members.

Eastern President Stan Rives, who has declared this week ROTC Week at Eastern, will open the luncheon and Maj. Robert Dinnen, professor of military science, will give an overview of Eastern's Army ROTC program and the changes it has undertaken in the past few years.

"The luncheon is to kick off the week and also invite any old ROTC graduates that are faculty or community members to the luncheon," Dinnen said. "It (the luncheon) is more about leadership than it is about the Army."

Another purpose of the luncheon is to "increase the awareness, not only on campus but across Illinois, of the impact that ROTC has," said Vance Chartier, recruiting officer for Eastern's Army ROTC unit. "We will talk about the history and future of ROTC and the leadership assessment program."

Even though this is the first year the luncheon has taken place, Dinnen hopes to make it an annual event to be incorporated with ROTC week.

Eastern's Panther Battalion is preparing for an all-out attack on Eastern's campus to celebrate ROTC Week.

The Army ROTC battalion has also planned a week of programs, including everything from throwing hand-grenades and crossing a rope bridge in the Library Quad to commemorate the event.

Cadet Maj. Steve Richards said the hand-grenade throwing session will take place from 10

EIU Foundation offers four new scholarships

By TISHA LANSING
Staff writer

Students have four more chances to win a scholarship through the EIU Foundation since four additional scholarship funds have been established.

The Roberson Student-Athlete Scholarship, one of the four additional scholarships, is available to juniors and seniors enrolled in Eastern's Lumpkin College of Business and who are also members of an Eastern varsity athletic team, said EIU Foundation President Margaret Hollowell.

The scholarship, established by Roger Roberson, a 1964 Eastern graduate who is the owner and president of the Roberson Corp. in Phoenix, Ariz., will provide full tuition and room and board for two semesters, Hollowell said.

She added the Roberson Student-Athlete Scholarship is the first of its kind.

The second scholarship, the Dorothy Davis Bunge scholarship, recognizes honor students who are residents of Du Page County, Hollowell said.

The scholarship, to be awarded each spring semester, was created by Gordon Bunge, a Lombard attorney, in memory of his wife, Dorothy.

The Jim and Bess Townsend Hanks Scholarship is available to undergraduate business majors in the department of accountancy and finance who are considering a career in insurance.

Candidates will be selected by a committee appointed by Ted Ivarie, dean of the Lumpkin College of Business, Hollowell said.

The scholarship was created by Eastern graduates Jim and Bess Townsend Hanks of West Lafayette, Ind.

The fourth scholarship, the Timothy Gover and Clifford Fagan Scholarship Fund, is available to undergraduate business majors. Rudolph and Kathryn Hlavek of Winter Park, Fla. established the fund through an estate commitment, Hollowell said.

Their commitment qualifies the couple for a membership into the Eastern's Heritage Society for individuals who have included the university in their estate plans, she added.

Hlavek, a 1964 Eastern graduate, is executive vice president for the Florida Division Office of Shearson Lehman Hutton. Gover, who resides in Mattoon, is a professor of finance at Eastern. Fagan, a retired professor of Eastern, is a business consultant in Las Vegas, N.M.

"Each scholarship is special by the restrictions they set," Hollowell said. She added the scholarships should be available in the spring.

Business workshops offer interfacing opportunities

By LIBBY SHAWGO
Staff writer

Eastern's Business Development Center will be sponsoring several business workshops throughout the week aimed at providing students and faculty with the chance to interface and ask questions.

The workshops will address issues "which apply to individual businesses," said Al Messenger, director of Eastern's Regional Business Services.

The first workshop, entitled "Finance For Non-Financial Managers," will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in Room 205 of Blair Hall. A $75 registration fee is required to attend.

The workshop will be geared toward business people who lack an accounting background, Messenger said. He added Yunus Kathawala, professor of management and marketing, will instruct the workshop.

The second workshop, "How to Handle Discipline with Positive Results," will be held from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday in Room 205 of Blair Hall. The workshop will be led by Dr. Paula McNitt of Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center.

"The instructor will cover such things as the use of discipline as an employee development tool," Messenger said. A $55 registration fee is required.

The third workshop, "Intermediate Lotus," will be held April 25 and May 2 and will be led by Marilyn Wilkins, professor of business education and finance.

Between 12 and 15 people, ranging from such professions as housewives to secretaries to business owners, usually attend the workshops, Messenger said.

"Most people who attend the workshops are from within 70 miles of Charleston," he said.

Anyone interested in attending the workshops may contact Eastern's Business Development Center at 581-2913.

Secretary wins employee award

By ERIN SCHOTT
Staff writer

Nancy Page, a secretary in Eastern's administration and finance department, was chosen as the January civil service employee of the month.

"I was very surprised to be given the award - it was quite an honor. It is nice to know that you are doing a good job and that people do like the work you do," Page said. "The feeling of gratification is experienced knowing that not only the individuals you work with appreciate all the hard work and energy you put out, but other individuals recognize it."

A former Eastern student, Page graduated from Eastern in 1975 and also is working toward obtaining her master's in guidance and counseling.

As employee of the month, Page receives a certificate and a lapel pin. And her picture is displayed in the main corridor of Old Main.

Pope urges peace in Lithuania, world

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In an Easter Sunday salute to man's yearning for freedom, Pope John Paul II said he hoped Lithuanians would achieve their goal of independence through "respectful and comprehensive" dialogue with Moscow.

In other Easter celebrations, Romanians and East Germans gave thanks for the freedoms won by their pro-democracy revolutions, and religious leaders called for peace and tolerance in Lebanon and Israel.

In the Soviet Ukraine, where Roman Catholicism was banned 44 years ago, Catholics in Kiev were allowed to legally perform Easter services for the first time in decades.

The pontiff spoke as Lithuanians waited to see whether Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev would carry out his threat to impose economic sanctions on the republic unless it rescinded independence-oriented actions by Sunday.

"In the name of Jesus dead and risen for all men, we ask for peace for our children in the dear Lithuania nation, while we hope that their aspirations find confirmation in a respectful and comprehensive dialogue," the pope said.

He spoke in Lithuanian after delivering his noontime Easter message from the central balcony overlooking St. Peter's Square.

Cheers went up from a crowd of 100,000 faithful and tourists in the square, where the pope earlier celebrated Easter Mass in front of St. Peter's Basilica. In his speech the pope declared: "Man of our time! Only the risen Christ can fully satisfy your irrepressible yearning for freedom." He said man's "true dimensions of the spirit have been discovered anew" after two bloody world wars and "years of dictatorships which have deprived men and women of their basic freedoms." His message on Lithuania was the latest attempt by the Vatican to help ease tensions between Moscow and the tiny Baltic republic, which declared independence on March 11.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that a Soviet envoy received by the pope on Saturday had delivered a message from Gorbachev about the crisis in Lithuania, where four out of five people are Catholic.

The Vatican in March opened diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Earlier this month, the Vatican's newly appointed envoy to the Soviet Union said the Holy See would be willing to mediate the Lithuanian dispute.

In his speech, John Paul gave holiday wishes in 55 languages. The longest greetings went to Lithuania and his homeland, Poland.

Quoting from the Gospel of John, the pope told his economically-depressed homeland: "You have the tribulations of the world, but have faith." In Romania, tens of thousands of worshipers sang ancient hymns in packed churches across the nation in an emotional celebration of their first free Easter in more than four decades.

In Timisoara, where Romania's pro-democracy revolution started and where some of the worst fighting occurred, Archbishop Nicolae eulogized the martyrs of the revolution in a sermon to 2,000 people.

McDonalds to test use of VISAs

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — It may not be long before Ronald McDonald is paying for his burgers and fries with plastic.

McDonald's Corp. says patrons at Evansville area McDonald's restaurants soon will be able to use Visa and MasterCard to pay for their meals.

"I know it is a very limited test, one limited to the Evansville area," Armondo Ojeta, a company spokesman at McDonald's headquarters in Oak Brook, Ill., told The Evansville Courier in a copyright story published Sunday.

Workers installed credit card scanners in the Evansville restaurants over the weekend, but Ojeta said he didn't know when the test would begin or how long it would last.

McDonald's also selected Evansville as a worldwide test market for its "McPizza" last summer.

Anniversary marked peacefully in China

BEIJING (AP) — Authorities arrested a lone protester in Beijing on Sunday, but hundreds of police discouraged other shows of dissent on the anniversary of the beginning of last year's student democracy movement.

Surprisingly, security was only marginally increased at the university campuses in northwestern Beijing which were centers of dissent last year.

At Beijing Normal University, crowds gathered around recently posted notices announcing the expulsions of movement leaders Wu'er Kaixi and Chai Ling, both of whom have fled to the West.

Sunday marked one year since the death of former Communist Party chief Hu Yaobang, who was popular among students for his relatively liberal views.

Students took to the streets then to mourn Hu and criticize the Communist leadership that ousted him from power in 1987 for failing to stop previous student demonstrations.

The marches grew into a movement demanding democratic reform and an end to corruption that lasted for seven weeks and drew crowds of more than 1 million people. It ended when troops shot their way to student-occupied Tiananmen Square on June 3-4, killing hundreds and perhaps thousands on the way.

Tiananmen Square was open to the public Sunday, unlike on April 1 and 5 when police sealed off the plaza to block protests. Overseas dissidents had urged people to silently stroll through the square on those days in honor of those killed in June.

The only incident Sunday occurred when a man in his 30s began to pin white paper flowers on his sleeve, a traditional sign of mourning.

Schools to add gambling courses

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Community colleges from Belleville to Chicago could add poker chips and playing cards to classroom supplies such as paper and computer disks if the state pursues a plan to train employees of riverboat gambling casinos.

The Illinois Gaming Board, which has begun developing rules and regulations for riverboat gambling operations set to begin next year, is considering using community colleges for the accreditation of riverboat gaming employees.

Joe Cipfl, president of Belleville Area College, said he thinks the plan has merit, considering that his area will probably be one of the sites for gaming operations.

"I could see BAC becoming involved in that," Cipfl said recently. "Certainly we would be willing to look at it. Someone needs to do it." Gaming Board President William Kunkle Jr. said the board plans to institute some type of licensing for gaming employees such as card dealers and croupiers, who run gambling tables.

Michael Wade, an assistant professor who teaches restaurant and hotel management at Moraine Valley Community College near Chicago, testified Thursday at a Gaming Board meeting that community colleges would be the logical institutions to offer gaming courses.

"It would be like our state sanitation degree," Wade said after the meeting.

He said such training would be "management-oriented," rather than merely a "school for dealers." Wade said he envisions courses that would be required for different levels of certification to work on gambling riverboats.

"For the actual dealing, that would be, say, a level three," Wade said. "If you don't have a gaming license, you shouldn't be able to set foot in there" as an employee, he said.

Local authorities predict the Metro East will probably get two gaming licenses, possibly for operations in East St. Louis and Alton.

De Klerk plans apartheid end

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A leading newspaper reported Sunday that President F.W. de Klerk plans to make a "statement of intent" this week to eliminate remaining apartheid laws.

The Sunday Star of Johannesburg, citing "political insiders," said de Klerk was expected to outline his plans in a speech to Parliament.

De Klerk has initiated a series of reforms of South Africa's system of racial segregation since assuming power in August. He says he wants to dismantle apartheid and negotiate a new constitution that will include the country's 28 million blacks.

He opposes a one-man, one-vote system, however, saying it will replace white domination with black domination. He also has not spelled out his position on several major apartheid laws.

They include the Group Areas Act, which segregates neighborhoods by race; the Population Registration Act, which classifies all South Africans by race; and the Land Acts, which allocate 13 percent of the land for blacks, who make up 75 percent of the population.

The Sunday Star quoted sources as saying that de Klerk is likely to make a "statement of intent" this week to do away with these measures, but is not expected to scrap them unilaterally. He apparently would prefer to negotiate the final details with opposition groups, the newspaper reported.

The newspaper quoted an unidentified member of Parliament as saying: "We are now telling our people — and they accept it — that the next government will be mainly black." The Star said the speech has been timed to increase the momentum of political reform heading into groundbreaking talks with the African National Congress guerrilla movement scheduled for May 2-4.

The discussions are designed to clear the way for formal negotiations on a new constitution.

Constitutional negotiations would include several opposition groups in addition to the ANC, the government has said.

De Klerk legalized the ANC and more than 60 other anti-apartheid groups in February as part of his effort to launch black-white power-sharing talks.

The same month, he freed black nationalist leader Nelson Mandela from prison. Mandela, deputy president of the ANC, had been imprisoned 27 years. He was convicted of sabotage and plotting to overthrow the government.

Gang crimes prompt dress code

CHICAGO (AP) — It is a modern urban phenomenon: kids robbing — and sometimes killing — other kids over the hottest designer sneakers, sunglasses or athletic jackets.

In Chicago alone, four young men have died in little more than a year over multi-colored, satiny jackets with splashy team logos across the back.

Those not dying for their clothing might instead be robbed.

On an icy day this winter, an 11-year-old boy was forced to hand over his $61 gym shoes to four youths, then walk the several blocks to his home barefoot, one of scores of incidents that occur each month, police say.

"Kids who try to keep their jackets are beaten or killed," said Sollie Vincent, commander of the Gang Crimes Section of the Chicago police. "It's a very cold, callous frame of mind." To combat the problem, schools from Baltimore to Miami to Los Angeles are falling back on an old idea: dress codes.

Some public schools even have instituted uniforms, traditionally associated with parochial schools.

"It's a definite trend," said Tim Callahan, a spokesman for the National Association of State Boards of Education. "Kids are going to learn best in an environment free of undue, inappropriate pressures, and certainly one that's free of violence."

"If clothing becomes a disruption to education, then we certainly are supportive of removing that barrier," he said.

"Starter" jackets — athletic jackets named for their manufacturer, Starter Sportswear Inc. of New Haven, Conn. — have sparked numerous crimes in Chicago, including four murders, police say.

In a grim acknowledgement of the garment's popularity, the police department last year created a separate category for "Starter jacket murders" in its citywide statistics.

"We are hoping these are isolated situations that are not long-term," said Thomas McAuliffe, human resources director for Starter.

Lady netters stay hot with weekend sweep

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Sports editor

Eastern's red-hot women's tennis team extended its winning streak to 10 consecutive meets with victories over St. Ambrose, Augustana and Northern Iowa in Davenport, Iowa.

"If someone would have told me before the spring season that we would be 13-2, I would have laughed them out of the room," said Eastern coach Grant Alexander. "I thought that maybe we would be a few matches over .500 and if we played good, we might be 9-6."

But the Lady Panthers have been on a roll that continued over the weekend, which saw them take 21 of 24 individual matches.

"I would say it's (the success is) unexpected," said No. 3 doubles performer Cheryl Piszczek. "But I don't know, something just clicked in and we just started winning."

Eastern started with a 6-0 victory over Augustana, before outlasting host St. Ambrose in a meet that didn't finish until 2 a.m.

"It was a war," Alexander said of the St. Ambrose meet. "That was a really tough match. There were times that I thought we were going to lose individual matches, but we fought back."

The Lady Panthers fought back, keyed by three-set victories by Piszczek and Lori Neate at No. 3 doubles (6-1, 3-6, 6-3), Sue Cottingham and Jill Bachochin at No. 2 doubles (6-4, 3-6, 7-6), Sheila Marcial at No. 6 singles (6-3, 3-6, 6-2) and Cottingham at No. 5 singles (6-0, 6-7, 6-4). Marcial won all three of her matches to extend her record to 13-0.

"St. Ambrose was really after us," Piszczek said. "They really wanted to beat us."

The Queen Bees did sting the Lady Panthers in No. 1 singles and doubles and No. 2 singles, with Missy Holste falling 6-1, 6-0 at No. 1 singles and losing 6-1, 2-6, 6-2 along with Kim Rhodes at No. 1 doubles and Dawn Brannon losing 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 in the second singles position.

Alexander said Holste's opponent, Sarah RaFauel, who hails from the Phillipines, was a formidable foe.

"She was tough," Alexander said. "She was probably the best player I've ever seen in college."

After ending in the wee hours of the morning, Eastern faced Gateway Conference foe Northern Iowa not long after sunrise.

"We were going to call Northern Iowa and ask them if they could play it right at that time (2 a.m.)," Alexander said. "We probably would have been in better shape to play them right then."

But Northern Iowa could not capitalize on the Lady Panthers' lack of sleep and fell 9-0.

Holste led the parade of victories with a 6-1, 6-1 victory and teamed with Rhodes to take an 8-1 victory in an eight-game pro set shortened because the outcome of the meet was decided.

Marcial won against UNI by a 6-0, 6-4 count, while Piszczek and Neate combined to top the purple Panthers 6-1, 6-1.

"We were really tired," Piszczek said.

The combined fall and spring record of the team now stands at 20-7.

Next for the Lady Panthers are meets at DePauw and Bradley.

Missy Holste

"I think DePauw is going to be after us, too," Piszczek said. "They're going to be playing well."

Ventura leads Sox over Tribe

CHICAGO (AP) — The first three-hit game of Robin Ventura's career and a sensational diving catch highlighted the rookie third baseman's best day as major leaguer in a 4-1 victory Sunday by the Chicago White Sox over the Cleveland Indians.

Ventura had a run-scoring hit-and-run single, scored a run after a triple and added a double Sunday. He said there was nothing special about his effort, other than feeling comfortable and able to count on shortstop Ozzie Guillen while on the field.

"Ozzie is a premier shortstop covering a lot of ground, which makes it easier for me to guard the line," Ventura said.

"That was an unbelievable diving catch Robin made against Brook Jacoby in the fifth to take a double away," manager Jeff Torborg said.

As the inning progressed, added Torborg, the play was quite important because starter Greg Hibbard gave up two singles and a walk.

Torborg said he told his pitching coach Sammy Ellis in the dugout, "What a nice cornerstone to start with when you're rebuilding." Hibbard pitched 5 2-3 innings of six-hit ball for his first victory.

Bream's hit helps Bucs top Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sid Bream sat out the first seven innings of the Pittsburgh Pirates' game Sunday against the Chicago Cubs, but that's nothing unusual for him. After all, he's coming back after missing nearly all of the 1989 season.

Bream, still recovering from reconstructive knee surgery, hit a run-scoring single in the 10th inning off Les Lancaster, the first run against Chicago's bullpen in 20 1-3 innings this season, and Bobby Bonilla had a three-run homer as the Pirates beat the Cubs 4-3.

The Cubs, who held the Pirates to eight hits and one run in the first two games of the series, were trying for their second three-game sweep in Pittsburgh since June 1957.

"We needed a win and we needed a win badly," Bream said. "I'm just thankful I'm playing again, and when you can be the guy responsible for winning the game, it makes you feel that much better. Maybe this type of win will get us going."

With the score tied at 3, Andy Van Slyke, in a 1-for-17 slump, singled to center to start the 10th against Lancaster, who had worked a scoreless eighth and ninth. Pinch-hitter John Cangelosi popped out trying to bunt but Lancaster walked R.J. Reynolds.

Phillies 'Cook' Cards

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies' plan to keep Dennis Cook in the bullpen probably changed on Sunday.

Cook allowed seven hits in 8 2-3 innings and Len Dykstra had four hits and scored three runs as the Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0.

"That was an outstanding performance by Dennis Cook," Phillies' manager Nick Leyva said. "That shows how smart I am, I've had him in the bullpen. If he keeps pitching like that, it will be tough to take him out of the rotation." Cook (1-0) made it tough on the Cardinals all day.

He gave up a leadoff single in the ninth inning to Willie McGee and left with two outs when Terry Pendleton doubled, sending McGee to third. McGee was the first runner to reach third against Cook in the game.

Reliever Roger McDowell walked Ozzie Smith to load the bases, but got pinch-hitter Denny Walling on a groundout to the mound for his second save.

"I thought I was in a groove with all of my pitches. That's what I have to do, mix my pitches," said Cook, who struck out two and walked one. "I'm not an overpowering pitcher so I've got to throw strikes. It's the same old stuff. We have guys in the lineup that should hit left-handed pitching but they don't and it's a mystery to me," Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog said. "Cook pitched well. We hit him pretty hard last year, although he beat us a couple of times." Dykstra, who led off four times with hits, started the first off Bryn Smith (1-1) with a double and scored on John Kruk's one-out single.

Von Hayes singled in the second, moved to third on Darren Daulton's single and scored when Pendleton misplayed Charlie Hayes' grounder to third base for an error.

Softball extends win streak to 5

By CHRIS BOGHOSSIAN
Associate sports writer

Third baseman JoAnn Barnes went 3-for-4 with three RBIs and Eastern's softball team extended its winning streak to five games with an 11-3 rain-shortened victory over Wichita State Friday at Lantz Field.

The Panthers, 11-6 and 5-2 in the Gateway Conference, played only one of four scheduled games during the weekend. The second game against Wichita State and both contests against Southwest Missouri were canceled because of rain.

Not only were the games canceled, but they can not be made up. Eastern head coach Kathy Arendsen said that both teams are located too far away to come back to Eastern later in the season.

"We really got creamed with a lot of rain Friday," Arendsen said. "We tore up the field so much during the game we played that we left no hope for Saturday."

"We're definitely disappointed. We possibly lost three wins right there. If we would have lost the game we played, this would have been harder to take." The Panthers have lost seven games because of the weather so far this year.

Barnes didn't let the rain slow her down, though. The senior, who came into Friday's contest with a .468 average, the sixth best in the nation, had a single, a double and a triple to raise her average to .490.

"JoAnn is on a tear right now," Arendsen said. "She's seeing the ball really well and hitting it hard every time. She comes through at crucial times."

Things didn't start out very well for the Panthers. After a scoreless first inning, the Shockers score their only three runs on three hits in the top of the second off of pitcher Jill Richards.

Eastern came back with a run off its own in the bottom of the second. Shortstop Tammy Stice doubled with one out and scored on Michelle Warren's single.

Richards (4-2) settled down from then on, allowing only two more hits the rest of the game, and the Panther bats took over.

"Jill was inconsistent, but she came through with the big pitches when she needed to," Arendsen said. "A part of that was probably because of the weather. It's hard to aim it (in the rain). She wasn't terrible, and our defense played well."

Second baseman Lynn Ramsay

led off the third with a single, and after Rose Dirks grounded out, Carrie Voisin singled, putting runners on first and third. They both scored on Barnes' double, and Barnes scored on a single by catcher Lisa Bourazak an out later, making the score 4-3.

After Voisin led off the fifth with a walk, Barnes smashed a triple and then scored on a ground out by Stice. Bourazak followed with a single, moved to second after Jennifer Bradley walked and scored on a single by Warren.

Leading 7-3 going into the bottom of the sixth, Dirks singled and moved to second after Voisin reached on an error. Barnes followed with a single, scoring Dirks, and both Voisin and Barnes scored on a double by Stice. Stice came home on a single by Bourazak.

With the Panthers leading 11-3 and two runners on base and no outs, the umpires decided to call the game because of the rain.

Voisin was 1-for-2 with three runs scored on the day. Stice went 2-for-4 with two RBIs and two runs scored, and Bourazak went 2-for-3 with an RBI and a run scored. Warren was also 2-for-3.

Mike Geisler, Eastern's ailing decathlete, placed second in the javelin, throwing the spear-like object 198-11 while Darrin Steele placed third with a toss of 196-4.

"I was pretty pleased overall with our showing," Akers said. "Sledge had a super meet and some of our lesser known 400 runners had a good meet."

do what you're supposed to do remember that."

The players appeared to understand the session, and the meaning behind it.

"He (Callahan) wanted to work on some things," said centerfielder Matt Legaspi, who went 0-for-4 in the leadoff position Sunday.

Leftfielder Jason Jetel said the session was borne out of frustration and lack of execution.

"I'd say it was a little of both," Jetel said. "You want to win as many as you can in conference."

This wasn't a really good way to start the conference play."

Callahan said the session wasn't necessarily held to produce a victory Monday.

"If we win tomorrow, I'm not going to say it was because we stayed after the game to practice," the Panther coach said. "But if we lose, hopefully it won't be because we didn't execute or we didn't communicate."

The fact it was an AMCU game made it all the more frustrating for Callahan.

Weather dampens Pepsi track Invite

By GEOFF T. MASANET
Staff writer

Heavy rains, cold temperatures and gusty winds marred this weekend's EIU/Pepsi Invitational but the bad weather didn't dampen the performances of the Panthers.

Friday's races and field events were run through a torrential downpour but as assistant coach Tom Akers noted, the attitude of the athletes was anything but Tsunami-like. "The weather Friday was indicative of how a Friday the 13th track meet should be," Akers said. "The guys running Friday had a real good attitude and just bared it out like everyone else."

Eastern claimed three championships Saturday, each winning his race in dominating style. The open races were held Friday while the elite, "invitational" races were held Saturday. Mike Young kicked past the pack to coast to a relatively easy win in the 800-meter run with a time of 1:53.2. "It was great to see him win a big invitational like this," Akers said. "He had a great home stretch drive."

Jim Sledge won the 110 high hurdles in "demoralizing" fashion, blowing away the field by .4 of a second for the easy win in 14.77.

Senior steeplechaser John Wells cleaned house, winning his specialty in 9:35 despite the horrendous conditions. Wells led fellow Panthers Brett Carlson and Sean Gale to good races as the duo finished up in 4th and 6th respectively with times of 9:45 and 10:02. "Sean is continuing to improve," Akers said. "I was very pleased; They had very strong showings, probably our best showing all weekend."

TERRI McMILLAN/Staff photographer
Eastern distance runner Jim Fagen attempts to overtake the lead runner in the 1500 meter race Saturday during the Panthers Pepsi Invitational at O'Brien Stadium. Fagen finished second in the race.

Darrin Steele and Bob Holzer finished up the Decathlon Friday garnering second and third places despite both no-heighting in an event apiece. Steele failed to clear his chosen opening height in the pole vault and Holzer missed his first three attempts in the high jump to lose points but still managing to finish strong. Steele vaulted 13-7 last weekend and with a similar jump this weekend, would have been well on his way to an easy first place win "somewhere in the range of 7000 to 7100 points."

Sophomore Rob Dowell started things off Friday in smashing style by winning the open 1,500-meter run with a seasonal best time of 4:06. "It was good to see him run well," Akers said. Dowell's run earned him a place in Saturday's invitational 1,500. In that race, Eastern placed 2,4,5 in a deep field with Jim Fagen leading the attack with a time of 3:55.6. Eric Baron, aided by an outstanding finishing kick, pulled in next for the Panthers at 3:57.5, just inching out Ron Fagen who finished in 3:57.6. "They're definately capable of running faster times and hopefully they'll get some good weather to do it in," Akers said.

On a sour note, Dan Steele, Eastern's hercularian hurdler, and Don Glover, a shining star on the Panthers squad, both received possible season-ending injuries Friday. Steele sprained his ankle warming up for the 400 hurdles while Glover strained his hamstring on the backstretch of the race. "They were both feeling a little better on Saturday," Akers said. "They're going to have to buckle down; it's going to take a lot of hard work to get back." Steele is hoping to be back in action in time for the National Invitational at Indianapolis before the NCAA meet.

Despite Glover's and Steele's absence, some surprising performances from Sledge and Chris Fowler in the 400 hurdles helped ease the pain. Sledge placed first in his heat with a personal best time of 54.3 while Fowler placed third overall in the open race. "They're both rookies and show great promise," Akers said.

Eastern's Braidy Miller had a super weekend, grabbing three 4th place finishes in the shot put, the hammer throw and the discus. "Braidy was the best all-around thrower in the meet," Akers said. "He's going to be a dominant factor come conference time."

Shannon Hough, in his first race since the indoor conference meet back in February, placed second in the 5,000-meter run with a time of 15:02.

Nevin Govan, an Eastern Track Club member, won the long jump with a leap of 25-1 and placed second in the high jump at 6-9 1/2. Tim Gately placed second in

Individuals set pace for women's team

By GEOFF T. MASANET

Mother Nature unleashed her wrath this weekend on the EIU/Pepsi Invitational yet many Lady Panthers slogged their way to some outstanding performances.

"I was quite pleased with the girls performances," Head coach John Craft said. "There were some admirable performances considering the weather."

Senior Kristi Baum won the javelin throw with a toss of 131-2 amidst an outstanding field. Baum sat out last season with a knee injury which she sustained during the first outdoor meet.

Aiding the Eastern effort, Esta Saverson again jumped just under nineteen feet, leaping 18-9 to place second in the event. Freshman Sherry Hoffman made it to the finals of the long jump but failed to place.

Tara Mayner high jumped her way to a second place finish and a seasonal best leap Friday night of 5-7 1/4.

Tracy Hoffman and T.J. Rhudy paced the Lady Panther distance effort as Hoffman ran a 2:19.8 good for seventh place in her quality-filled "invitational" heat of the 800-meter run. Rhudy, also running with the elite field, placed eighth in the 1,500-meter run with a time of 4:56.3.

"The meet ran very well," Craft said. "Even with the bad weather, the other coaches said they enjoyed the meet and liked the two-day format."

Baseball team suffers 9-2 setback

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Sports editor

It wasn't a festive Easter weekend for Eastern's baseball team.

Firstly, the Panthers saw their four-game weekend reduced to a single Sunday contest with Association of Mid-Continent Universities arch-rival Southwest Missouri State and secondly, when the game was played, Eastern took a 9-2 loss that wasn't pretty.

The loss was so unattractive that Eastern coach Dan Callahan kept the team for an extended practice session that the Panther coach stressed "wasn't a means of punishment."

The Bears and Panthers were locked in combat throughout the game until the Bears' eighth and ninth innings, when Southwest exploded for five runs to put the contest out of reach.

The teams will play a pair of games Monday starting at 12:30 p.m.

"We just felt like a couple of situations came up where we didn't execute," Callahan said. "Some was from a lack of communication and some was a lack of execution."

Indeed, communication and execution were the themes of the post-game workout, when

Callahan told the team "This game's easy if we talk and communicate and do things like we're supposed to do."

The Bears were victimized by mistakes for the first run of the game. In the bottom of the first, Panther second baseman Jeff Nelson delivered a one-out single, reaching second as SMSU pitcher Paul Crain's pickoff attempt got away from first baseman Jim Calhoon. Nelson reached third on rightfielder Jeff Jetel's single and scored as Crain uncorked a wild pitch.

The Panthers built a two-run lead in the third when Nelson walked, reaching second on another mishandled pickoff throw. Following a walk by Jetel, first baseman Dana Leibovitz singled, scoring Nelson.

The Bears tied it in the fourth on a double by catcher Greg Faron and another run scored on a fielder's choice. They went ahead with two runs in the fifth on a bunt single and a single by centerfielder Chad Lakin.

It was the eighth inning that Southwest put the game out of reach.

Left fielder Brent Bartlett led off the inning with a home run to left-centerfield off Panther starter Ryan Edwards. Edwards then hit the next batter, centerfielder Corey Krueger. Faron reached on an error by Eastern shortstop Brent Howard and right fielder Corby Fister singled home Krueger to end Edward's day.

Frank Jablonski came in and retired the next batter on a sacrifice bunt and intentionally walked Bear second baseman Tim Buntun. Third baseman Bill Mueller followed with a perfectly executed suicide squeeze play, scoring Faron. Calhoon singled home Fister to end the inning. The Bears scored a run on an error in the ninth to finish the scoring.

Offensively, the Panthers mustered just four hits on the afternoon, while Crain pitched the complete nine innings to record the win, moving to 3-2 on the season, while Edwards fell to 2-3.

"The way Crain pitched the last 5-6-7 innings, he just got stronger and stronger," Callahan said.

After the loss, the Panthers began the practice that lasted approximately one hour, with the team practicing situations that they had failed to execute during the last few games.

Callahan worked his players throughout the session, telling them, "I'll leave you alone if you
